From 2003 to 2017, NYCLA trained aspiring leaders in the NYC Department of Education through our Aspiring Principals Program (APP). APP was a standards-based program using experiential learning methods to help leaders develop real-world skills needed to foster educational equity. It serves as the model for aspiring principal programs we help systems across the country establish.

NYC Leadership Academy is a nationally recognized nonprofit organization that builds the capacity of educational leaders, at every level of the system, to confront inequities and create the conditions necessary for all students to thrive. Since 2003, NYCLA has worked with educators in 185 public school districts, charter and parochial schools, state departments of education, universities, foundations, and nonprofit organizations across 35 states, Washington, D.C., and internationally.

VISION

At NYCLA, we envision a nation where every school and school system is led by transformational leaders who prepare all children, especially the traditionally underserved, for success.

MISSION

We build the capacity of educational leaders, at every level of the system, to confront inequities and create the conditions necessary for all students to thrive.
